AGED J. P. KELLY'S NERVE.

It Gets Him Arrested, but He Wins His Case.

Ex-Alderman John P. Kelly yesterday proved his ability as a guardian of property. About 8 o'clock a. m. was informed that two men were loafing about his house and had been there most of the night. Mr. Kelly went out and ordered the fellows off the premises. This they refused and spoke insultingly to the old gentleman.

He proceeded to lead them outside when they assaulted him, but received the heavy end in return. They wanted to get even for a cut head and a black eye and several minor injuries, and they accordingly swore out a warrant before Alderman Johns. At the hear ing the ex-alderman proved himself not guilty of a charge of assault and battery and was discharged.

The men who gave their names as Derby Dougherty and Joe Miller, became boisterous and profane. Alderman Johns fined them each two dollars and in lieu of a settlement sent them to jail for ten days.

REV. CONANT GIVES BAIL.

Counter-Suit Grows from the Case of Hostler Donsko. George Donsko brought suit before Alderman Kelly of the Eighteenth ward, yesterday against Rev. Father Conant, rector of the Greek Catholic church, Donsko is employed as a bartender by John Mayjernik, of Broadway, but formerly acted as hostler for Father Conant. The suit was brought fer wages he alleges is due him from the rector.

Rev. Father Conant waived a hearing and entered bail in the sum of $300 ball for his appearance at court. Joseph Kotchick became his bondsman. As a result of the suit, Bertha Fotchow, a domestic employed by Rev. Father Conant, charges Donsko with obtaining money under false pretenses She claims that the money had been given her to pay Donsko and she had done so sometime since. A warrant was issued to recover the money. Donsko was held in the sum of $300 for his appearance at court. George Kramer
